NAZIS BATTER AT GATES OF STALINGRAD

Meandering Along the Main Stem

I am wondering how many of you older folks who read this column will recall the days of "long ago" when the old chair wagons were stationed on the streets in the up-town area, or made the rounds of the residential part of the city, selling home-made split-bottom chairs?

Two or three times each year these old chair wagons, piled high with the substantial hickory bottom chairs, fashioned by expert chair makers in the hill regions, would visit the city.

One local resident recalls that just as sure as the chair wagons arrived in town, a rain would occur, and thoroughly drench those spic and span chairs.

However this did not seem to spoil the demand for them, and even though that was many years ago, there are some homes in Washington C. H. and Fayette County that still have one or more of the old, hand-made split-bottomed chairs.

I expect this little yarn will put ideas in the heads of some of the farm boys in Fayette County.

When I was a good sized boy on the farm, I often visited the scenes of pioneer log cabins, usually still discernible even though the old cabins had long since disappeared, and the big glacial stones upon which the foundation logs rested, had been moved.

Usually fragments of broken dishes, depression of old wells, and color of the soil were sufficient to show where the homes of the early residents of the county had stood.

I searched about such spots for big copper one cent pieces, and found several of them. The big pennies would be dropped on the puncheon floors of the long-cabins, slip through a crack in the floor, and could not be reached.

I recall one of these big copper cents bore the date of 1818, another 1819, a third 1829 and fourth, 1832. I still have them all well preserved.

The coins would indicate that it was approximately 110 to 120 years ago that the old log cabins were inhabited.

Tuesday apparently was a good day for one of Fayette County's little known and grotesque insects—the praying mantis.

I was first called into one of the shoe shining places to identify one of the big insects, and an hour later two residents of the Milledgeville community brought another—and larger—praying mantis into the Record-Herald office for identification.

These big insects, usually three inches or more in length, with huge hind legs and wings, and short, heavy front legs, derive their name from the fact that they hold their front legs folded together like the hands of a persons in prayer.

The big, ungainly fellows live on other insects, and have tremendous force in those stubby front legs, as well as in their heavy jaws.

Although supposed to be quite harmless insofar as poison or sting is concerned, they can really claw with their front legs and will try to bite. When I seized one between my thumb and finger, he immediately reached up as if trying to get a full Nelson on my fingers. Sucking his sharp claws into my thumb, he twisted himself loose almost instantly, then bristled up in fighting posture. I didn't cross him further, but stuffed him back into the glass jar and turned him over to his finders. However, I did not blame him for scratching and trying to bite me. After all, self preservation is the first law of nature.

OHIO CASH FARM INCOME NEARLY DOUBLES IN YEAR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Cash income from farm marketings in Ohio rose from $144,106,000 in the first six months of 1940 to $242,920,000 in the first half of this year, the Department of Agriculture reported. The 1941 comparable income was $164,297,000.

GAS RATIONING RECOMMENDED TO SAVE TIRES

Drastic Restrictions Also In Prospect for Civilian Automobile Use

REPORT GIVEN PRESIDENT

Existing Situation Called 'Dangerous' by Committee After Investigations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—A special rubber committee set up by President Roosevelt proposed today nationwide rationing of gasoline and drastic restrictions on civilian operation of automobiles.

The committee submitted its report to the Chief Executive with a blunt declaration that there was no middle course in solving the nation's rubber problem, that it was "discomfort or defeat."

In addition to recommending an expansion of the present synthetic rubber production program from an annual total now of 705,000 tons to a contemplated figure of 1,100,000 the committee proposed these additional steps:

1. That no speed above 35 miles an hour be permitted for passenger cars and trucks, so as to prolong the life of tires by nearly 40 percent.

2. That the average annual mileage per car be held to approximately 5,000 miles, and this to be permitted only for "necessary driving."

3. That more rubber be released to the public through re-capping old tires, or the issuance of new ones, so as to maintain fully necessary civilian driving.

4. That a new gasoline rationing system be devised to save tires, based on 5,000 miles a year of driving per car.

5. That "the restrictions as to gasoline and mileage be national in their application."

6. That compulsory periodic tire inspections be instituted.

7. That a voluntary tire conservation program be put into effect pending establishment of gas rationing, which the committee said was "the only way of saving rubber."

The committee members were Bernard M. Baruch, head of the War Industries Board in the last war; Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard University, and Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The group was appointed on August 6 with instructions from President Roosevelt to complete a survey quickly and to propose the best methods of obtaining adequate rubber for military and for essential civilian needs.

They told the President bluntly that:

"We find the existing situation

Japs Are Blamed for Revolt in India

(By the Associated Press)
Prime Minister Churchill indirectly warned Japan today against thrusting her invasion tentacles into India, declaring that "large reinforcements have reached India and the number of white soldiers now in India is larger than at any time in the British connection."

The British war leader said Britain intended to preserve order among India's rebellious elements by all necessary measures.

In New Guinea

Meanwhile in the southwest Pacific, out-flanked Allied troops fell back in the towering Owen Stanley mountains in New Guinea as Japanese columns drove across the 8,000-foot summit and pushed down the opposite slope within 44 airline miles of Port Moresby.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters, acknowledging the setback, said Australian troops were battling gallantly to halt the enemy advance along a narrow, jungle-bordered trail crossing a series of ridges which still lie between the invaders and their goal.

In Japanese hands, Port Moresby would be an important base for short-range bombing attacks on Australia and a potential springboard for an invasion attempt.

The British war leader said Britain intended to preserve order among India's rebellious elements by all necessary measures.

Marines Continue To Mop Up Scattered Enemy Units That Fled To Jungles as Air Force Bombs Bases and Strafes Troops

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—A new American offensive to drive the Japanese out of the Solomon Islands apparently was underway today—launched by an aerial assault on enemy troops and installations at Gizo Island.

With the U. S.-captured base on Guadalcanal, 215 miles to the southeast, evidently the springboard for the attack, American air forces bombed and strafed the small, heavily wooded island, the Navy Department announced last night.

The attack was carried out last Sunday without enemy resistance, the Navy said, as the Marines continued to mop up Japanese units which fled to Guadalcanal jungles at the first American landing more than a month ago.

These Japanese detachments, the Navy added, may have been reinforced by a few troops which managed to land on the island under cover of darkness.

The Navy communiqué also reported destruction of a large Japanese four-engine fly-

FIERCE DEFENSE PUT UP BY REDS BALKS CAPTURE

Germans Are Mowed Down as Hitler Pushes Power Drive Relentlessly Ahead

FIRST WINTER RAINS FALL

Caucasus in Grave Danger As Assault Intensified; Egypt Ominously Calm

By ROGER D. GREENE

(By the Associated Press)
The German storm beat more fiercely around Stalingrad in a thunderous melee of tanks, planes and struggling masses of men today, and the Berlin radio asserted that Nazi vanguards had driven to the great Volga steel city itself.

Soviet headquarters acknowledged that Field Marshal Fedor von Bock's incessant power drives overran two more villages west of the city, but dispatches said the Red armies, "fully consious of the danger hanging over Stalingrad, are defending every inch of their dear land."

At mid-day, the Russian command declared Soviet troops had stiffened again in fighting that raged throughout the night and exacted a deadly toll on the Germans.

Cold rains swept the battlefield, dispatches said, breaking a heat wave and signaling the approach of wintry conditions which might bog down Adolf Hitler's giant mechanized forces.

The Soviet mid-day communiqué said Russian infantry, mortar and machine-gun crews, often engaging in savage bayonet fighting, drove off repeated attacks overnight in the key sector west of Stalingrad and killed more than 550 Germans.

Fresh German forces were reported massing in the sector, however, and it was apparent that von Bock was maneuvering for a climactic assault.

As the battle mounted in ferocity, an official Soviet announcement declared that 73 Axis divisions—about 1,095,000 troops—had been broken and routed with the annihilation of more than 70 percent of their effectives from May 1 through August.

In the Western Caucasus, the Soviet command reported the slaughter of more than 1,000 Germans but acknowledged that the invaders "broke into the north-western outskirts" of Novorossisk, Russian Black Sea naval base, which the Nazis claimed to have captured Sunday.

In the Central Caucasus, the Russians declared they wiped out several German crossings of the Terek River, about 50 miles north of the Grozny oil fields, and drove the enemy survivors back to the river's edge in some places.

While Russian soldiers battled to save their homeland, Soviet warplanes kept the Allied aerial offensive in Europe rolling by attacks on eastern Germany and the Hungarian capital of Budapest.

A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm said Berlin also had a small scale raid during the night—presumably carried out by Soviet bombers—but Nazi broadcasts made no mention of such an attack.

On the Egyptian battlefield, British G.H.Q. reported British mobile columns and artillery clashed with small forces of Axis tanks in the southern sector of the El Alamein line, 80 miles west of Alexandria.

The Italian high command reported "no important fighting."

SKILLED WORKERS SLOW TO TAKE JOBS IN WAR FACTORIES

COLUMBUS, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Wade Hammond, Ohio director of the U. S. Employment service, reported today only "moderate success" in the current drive to persuade skilled workers in non-war industries to enter war production plants.

Although the number of workers who transfer are sufficient to relieve distressed situations, Hammond said, more transfers are needed to provide adequate manpower for war plants.

The employment service since September 1 has been reporting to the Manpower Commission cases of workers reluctant to transfer, Hammond said. He expressed belief the data thus collected would be used to determine a nationwide policy regarding worker transfers.

8 DUTCHMEN TO DIE AT HANDS OF NAZIS

LONDON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Eight Netherlands accused of printing and distributing calls for sabotage of German war industry in Holland have been sentenced to death by a German high court in Utrecht, it was reported today through Aneta, Dutch news agency.

"You did things more serious than fighting with arms," said the judge in sentencing the eight—a plumber, three metal workers, a painter, a building worker, a baker and a railroad man whose ages ranged from 21 to 57.

Student Army Reserves May Get Active Service

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson served notice today that college students who are members of the Army enlisted reserve face a call to active military duty as soon as they reach the minimum legal age for service—now 20 years—because increasing war demands for manpower.

Stimson said the use of reserve officer training corps units was under consideration to give the student reservists concentrated military training when they are called up.

The war secretary said he had advised educators in the meantime to carry on civilian education as far as possible, rather than diluting it by "amateur military training."

Stimson also announced that several thousand members of regular army reserve, enlisted reserve corps and the national guard of the United States, who had been deferred because of dependency, would be called to active duty in October and November, as provision has been made by Congress to pay allotments to dependents.

Other enlisted reservists deferred will be honorably discharged from the reserve as of December 31 and made responsible to the selective service.

Stimson made a number of other announcements, including disclosure that the air transport command had opened its ranks to women with the establishment of an experimental unit of women pilots for ferrying operations within the United States.

OHIO FLIER SAFE

CINCINNATI, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The family of Capt. Edmund P. Lunken, 30, of the Army Air Forces, reported today receipt of word that he is safe. The War Department informed relatives yesterday that he was missing in Central America.

SON OF EARL HAIG HELD WAR PRISONER IN ITALY

LONDON.—(AP)—Earl Haig, 24, son of the British World War commander, is a prisoner of war in Italy, it was officially announced today. He had been reported missing in the Middle East last month. Haig became a second lieutenant in the Scots Greys in August, 1939.

Kaiser Seeks Go-Ahead On Cargo Plane Program

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Flanked by two engineers he said he knew all the answers, Henry J. Kaiser sought a "yes" from Donald M. Nelson today to his proposal to build giant cargo planes for carrying troops and supplies to the far-flung battlefronts.

The west coast shipbuilder talked with the chairman of the war production board for an hour and a half late yesterday, but his engineers failed to arrive in time, necessitating another conference today.

Talking with reporters in his hotel after he had seen Nelson,

Wartime Dearth of Teachers Is Overcome in City

MANY CHANGES ARE NECESSARY IN EMERGENCY

Only One Vacancy on Staff Is Result of Belated Resignation

In spite of the wartime dearth of teachers, there was only one vacancy on the entire teaching corps of the Washington C. H. schools as they began to settle into the regular routine after the first few hectic sessions of the opening days.

There were more new faces at the teachers' meeting on the first day of school than there had been for many years. But that was expected. The changes which the war was to bring about first began to appear long before the summer vacation started when the young men of the corps began to go into the country's armed forces from both the elementary and high schools.

Then came the summer vacation and teachers all over the country went into jobs to help with the war effort. Both men and women answered the call to help with the country's war effort in a material way. But, most of them went into war work with the understanding that they would be released to return to their classrooms at the vacation's end. Teaching, incidentally, is considered vital to the welfare just as is work in a war production factory or office. Some accepted positions in other schools.

From state and national educational authorities and associations word went out throughout the summer that there would be a shortage of teachers. They pointed out that the armed services would take many of the younger men and that the high wages in war production factories would claim many others, both men and women. So, school officials here knew what to expect and laid their plans accordingly.

No resignation came entirely unexpected and, with the one exception, they were prepared to meet the situation. That one was a resignation, Superintendent A. B. Murray said, which came just before school reopened when Leon Morris stayed on at his summer job in an Akron War plant. He had taught mathematics in the high school and his place is being filled by a substitute until a regular teacher is appointed.

At Eastside, which has the largest enrollment of the city's five elementary schools, there are seven teachers for the six grades. Every room in the old building is crammed to capacity. The fourth grade is divided with a teacher for each room. Warren M. Durkee is the principal and teacher of the sixth grade. The other teachers and the grades they teach are: First, Nell R. Paul; second, Mary Jane Townsley; third, Helen Chitty; fourth, Kathryn Jane Fults and Madge M. Dawson and fifth, Ruth Hopkins. At Sunnyside, with the second largest enrollment, there are six teachers, one for each grade.

Everett B. Minton is the principal and sixth grade teacher. The others are: First, Kathryn I. Williams; second, Hazel Davis; third, Marie Hughes; fourth, Donna Smith and fifth, Ethyl McElwain.

There are five teachers for the six grades at Central with the third and fourth combined. Lillian O. Taylor, is the principal and teacher of the sixth grade. The others are: First, Naomi Butterfield; second, Margaret Smith; third and fourth, Virginia Wilson Whiteside, and fifth, Marian Christopher.

There are only four teachers at the Rose Avenue School where all except Ruth C. Teeters, who teaches the first grade, have two grades. Mervin Britten, the principal, teaches the fifth and sixth grades; Clara Davis has part of the third and fourth grades and Margaret Gibson has the other part of the third and second grades.

Cherry Hill, with the smallest enrollment, has but four teachers and each has two overlapping grades. Opal Davis, the principal, teaches part of the fifth and sixth; Amelia Pensyl has part of the fifth and fourth; Lillian Teevens has part of the second and third; and Jeanne Woollard the first and part of the second. The kindergarten for the entire city, with its 40 little boys and girls of pre-school age in the morning and 40 others from another section of the city in the afternoon, also is held in the Cherry Hill building. Jane Durant is the teacher and the youngsters are picked up by a bus at the other elementary buildings and brought to the school and taken back to the district buildings where they were picked up.

Kenneth Eggleston, who has been driving the bus for the kindergarten since it became a major part of the city school system, gave up his responsibility with the little tots this year to take a position as shipping clerk at the Aeronautical Products, Inc. plant here. Tod Ward was named to succeed him.

There are 34 teachers on the high school staff, including the instructors in the comparatively new courses in practical mechanics. Of this staff, 15 are men and 19 women. W. F. Rettig is the high school principal and the teachers are as follows:

Janet Allen, Ethel J. Arnold, Robert Aughinbaugh, Golda Baughn, Clyde B. Cramer, Kathleen Davis, Marjorie Evans, Susan C. Fite, Paul E. Fitzwater, Lawrence Giebelhaus, Joseph J. Horst, Helen Hutson, Karl J. Kay, Jerry J. Kissell, George B. Mirabren, Ellenor Bricker Overturf, D. E. Petty, Sara L. Keck, Helen King, A. F. McCann, Faye Mayo, Gladys Melson, Loreah O'Brian, O. M. Riegel, William K. Robinson, Warren B. Root, Margaret Schneider Bailey, Marian Schockey, Zelma K. Seyler, Mary Rosalyn Wilson, G. B. Vance and Mary E. Wood.

At Eastside, which has the largest enrollment of the city's five elementary schools, there are seven teachers for the six grades. Every room in the old building is crammed to capacity. ## $10,000 DAMAGE SUIT IS FILED BY W. R. ALLEN

Alienation of Affections Charge Made Against Zella Wilt

The first alienation of affections suits filed in the Fayette County courts in recent years, was launched Wednesday afternoon, when Wilbur Richard Allen filed a $10,000 damage action against Zella Wilt, charging that the defendant has deprived him of the affections of his wife, Gladys Cordell Allen.

At the same time Allen filed a divorce action against his wife, to whom he was married March 10, 1927, and named Wilt as co-defendant in the action.

In the $10,000 damage suit Allen states that he was married March 10, 1927 and that three daughters were born to them. He declares in the action that on Sept. 6, 1942 and at other times, the defendant "unlawfully, wrongfully and maliciously" by his machinations, enticements, favors, attentions, affections and seductive actions, induced the plaintiff's wife to become dissatisfied with the plaintiff and that she had associated with the defendant in public places, took auto rides with him and on Sept. 6, took their children and remained overnight in defendant's auto trailer in Dayton, and that she and the children have not returned.

Plaintiff states that he has been deprived of the companionship, aid, love and affections of his wife to his damage in the sum of $10,000.

In the divorce action Allen states that he was married in this city March 10, 1927, and that the defendant has been guilty of gross neglect of duty, extreme cruelty and has transferred her affections to Wilt. Custody of the children is also asked.

Norman L. McLean represents the plaintiff in both the damage suit and divorce action.

CHAS. DUNTON TAKES POSITION AT WAR PLANT

Manager of USES Office Here For More Than Three Years Resigns

Charles Dunton, who has been the manager of the Washington C. H. office of the United States Employment Service for the past three and a half years, is to be the employment manager of the Aeronautical Products, Inc., plant on South Fayette Street.

Dunton disclosed Thursday afternoon that he had submitted his resignation to the USES headquarters, effective September 15 and said that he would take charge of the employment office at the war production plant here the following day.

Dunton said his new position came "rather unexpectedly." He said he felt, however, that he should be able to handle the problems that might arise because of the experience he had gained in this type of work while manager of the USES here where his duties were to place workers in jobs to which they were best suited. While admitting that this was not always "as simple as it sounds," he said the work had been interesting and that he relinquished the post with a feeling of satisfaction that he had been able to be of service to both employers and employees in both Washington C. H. and Fayette County. He has had employment experience with both men and women.

Dunton is a native of Washington C. H., but lived much of his boyhood in Springfield before returning here about 10 years ago.

The Aeronautical Products, Inc., plant is now getting into high gear and a steady increase in employment is expected during the next few weeks.

Although it already is in production on a few precision parts for airplanes and airplane engines (details are a military secret) it has been learned that machinery is still being set up. As soon as a piece of equipment is set up, it is placed in operation. The plant is now operating on a 24-hour schedule.

FRIGHTENED TIRE THIEF ESCAPES

Leaves Tire Removed from Auto on Street Late in The Night

C. L. Rupp, traveling salesman of Columbus, came very near having his automobile put out of commission, about 1:30 A. M., Thursday, when a thief was frightened away after having removed a tire from his car which was parked at the curb on North Main Street.

The thief, who was dressed in a light tan outfit, was seen removing the tire, but apparently no one thought much about the affair, believing him to be the owner.

For some reason the man became alarmed after removing the tire and fled, leaving his auto jack under the car, as well as leaving the tire.

It is the first attempted tire theft here in weeks, so far as known.

PLANS SHAPE UP FOR BOND SALE RALLY MONDAY

Supt. A. B. Murray Named Chairman of Meeting To Be Addressed by Alaskan

Plans are rapidly taking shape for the huge county-wide War Bond Sales rally in Washington C. H., when Mayor John Fletcher, of Unalaska, comes here next Monday evening to tell the story of the Japanese attack on Dutch Harbor and of their seizure of two of the Aleutian Islands.

Making a six day tour of a limited number of cities under the supervision of the United States Treasury Department and telling the reasons why the people of this nation should exert more than ordinary effort to finance the war by purchasing War Bonds and Stamps, Mayor Fletcher will arrive here late Monday afternoon from Wilmington where he will speak at a noonday rally.

Chairman Forrest E. Hill, of the Fayette County War Savings Committee, has announced that a committee will meet Mayor Fletcher in Wilmington and escort him to Washington C. H. and after dinner will accompany him to the high school auditorium where he will deliver a short address at 8:15 P. M.

Previous to his talk a musical entertainment will be given at the auditorium with Paul Fitzwater, high school music director as chairman of the committee. The High School Band will take part in the program.

Mayor Fletcher will come into Ohio from Kentucky and leave Washington C. H. early Tuesday morning for the western part of this state and thence stop in Indiana for two or three addresses before starting his journey home.

Supt. Murray Chairman

Superintendent A. B. Murray will be chairman of the meeting here Monday night and will act on the reception committee to meet Mayor Fletcher. Others on

SAVE YOUR OWN BACON
For purely selfish reasons, if no other, every American citizen should become a participant in the war against fire. Shortages of materials and labor will make it difficult and in some cases impossible to rebuild homes which fire has destroyed. And the same thing will be true of businesses which are not on the brief "essential-to-the-war" list issued by the government.

The organizations whose job it is to prevent fire are doing better work than ever. Progressive cities have expanded both professional and volunteer fire-fighting departments. Civilian defense activity stresses fire prevention and control. But, these groups simply cannot do it all. They can't make certain that every home, every office, and every factory is as free of fire hazards as possible, and is adequately equipped to fight fire if it breaks out. The public at large must help. There's no mystery to fire prevention in the home. Such hazards as accumulations of periodicals, old clothes and furniture in basements, closets and attics can easily be eliminated. So can most other hazards—improperly stored inflammable liquids, frayed lamp wiring, defective heating appliances, etc. In industry, management should see to it that effective fire-fighting equipment is provided—and that all workers are trained in its use. That costs little, and it may pay vast dividends. Fire destroys materials, money and labor that are vitally needed for the war effort. Fire, therefore, is on the side of our enemies. Fight it!

THE STOREKEEPER AND THE WAR
This country owes a debt of gratitude to the retail industry. For no industry has shown a more aggressive and cooperative spirit in dealing with the tremendous problems imposed by our war economy. That goes for chain stores, independent stores, department stores and all other accepted forms of retail distribution.

Long before Federal price control was adopted, retailing in general went to work to hold prices down. Whenever possible, it lowered its operating costs and passed the savings on to the consumer. In many instances, it voluntarily reduced its own modest margins of profit in order to control prices. It is a significant fact that, over a long period of time, wholesale prices increased to a far greater extent than retail prices. In other words, had retailers increased their mark-up on the basis of the wholesale price index, the cost of living would have been substantially higher than it actually was.

As shortages and priorities became more severe, retailers took the lead in advising consumers on how to select and use suitable substitutes. They issued factual information which showed the consumer how to make many kinds of articles last longer. And in the food field, retailers

Washington at a Glance By Charles P. Stewart

WASHINGTON — These are hard times for the nation's small loan concerns—the kind that advance funds, generally at pretty stiff interest rates, to folk on moderate incomes but very dependable ones, in order to guarantee that they will be good pay. Time was when, if you needed a few greenbacks to tide you over an emergency, you had to hustle around in every direction to find a small loan agent who was willing to trust you. Now, though, such establishments simply fight for borrowers. They advertise. They send you invitations, urging you to drop in and get some dough. Some of them mail out promissory notes, drafted in advance, with nothing for the recipient to do but sign on the dotted line and the cashier will fork over gladly. Explanation Asked This thing, starting in recently, of being literally persecuted to borrow somebody's money, was a new experience to me and I wrote a little column on the subject. The result I got was a call from the representative of a prominent loan company to ask me to explain myself. When I had done so, he furnished me with an explanation, in turn. He agreed that certain companies are overly intensive in their solicitation methods. Yet he pointed out that wartime employment is so rampant that the small loan agencies' business has gone all to smash. The public is not buying normally, either. It has almost wholly suspended its investments in modest little homes and autos, formerly paid for largely out of small loans. Naturally, the lenders felt the pinch. Ah, but wait until next year's instalments of tax payments begin to fall due! And from then on, into indefinite futurity! It won't be money to buy a new car or house and lot that a would-be purchaser will need to borrow money for. He will borrow to pay for what he has obligated for already, after satisfying the revenue collector. Congressional tax discussion has been prophetic along this line. Uncle Sam knows how many billions he must have. The total is cut into a multiplicity of items. The legislators provide for some of them. "But heck!" says some financial expert. "It's an obvious impossibility to raise so much from that particular source." Upon consideration, it is agreed.

Today's Horoscope
Persons having birthdays today are resourceful, daring, and often the victims of rash impulse. They should develop strength of purpose and more even tempers. They are ardent lovers, devoted to their families, and should find much happiness in life. They are threatened with bereavement in the next 12 months, and or love or domestic disappointments. The health of themselves and relatives will need extra care during this time, but financial benefits will accrue. The child who is born on this date will need much care and attention in health matters, especially diet, but inheritance or other monetary benefits and success in military, legal or engineering pursuits are probable.

- One-Minute Test Answers
1. There are no "national" holidays in the United States. Each state has jurisdiction over the holidays to be observed therein.
2. Arabians, Hebrews and Syrians.
3. Women's Ambulance Safety Patrol.

are an important factor in advancing the national nutrition campaign, which is designed to guide the housewife in preparing healthful, appetizing meals at minimum cost.

Today, retailers are proving their abilities as salesmen of War Stamps. A short time ago, a "Retailers for Victory" drive was started, in which all kinds and sizes of stores participated. The object is to sell $1,000,000,000 worth of War Stamps and Bonds each month for the duration. Reports on the early weeks of the campaign show that, as usual, America's retailers are doing the job with complete and spectacular success.

Your store, in short, is more than just a place where goods are bought and sold in routine fashion. Retailing is working to protect the consumer to the ultimate of its abilities on the one hand—and to give maximum service to the war effort on the other.

What the Thyroid Gland Does and How It Works

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

FOR SOME reason that is not very clear to me, my mail of late has been full of inquiries every day about the thyroid gland and goiter. I say the reason is not clear to me because usually when I get a lot of inquiries on one subject it is because I have written on it. But I have had no articles on the thyroid for some time. Besides according to our experience in my part of the world goiter is diminishing. Still the letters keep coming in.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Perhaps it is the war. It is well known that in any time of great stress, anxiety, and tragedy, goiter increases. Any sudden shock will do it. Soldiers have been known to come out of battle with a fully developed case of exophthalmic goiter.

The primary symptoms of the exophthalmic form of goiter—staring eyes, trembling, sweating, nervousness are the symptoms of a fear reaction. So the war might be the explanation of my readers' interest in the thyroid.

I will endeavor to answer the letters en masse by explaining as best I can in this and the following articles the functions the thyroid performs in the body and how it goes wrong.

Location of Thyroid Gland

The thyroid gland is located at the base of the neck, is divided into two parts which lie on each side of the Adam's apple and are each about the size of the ball of your thumb.

It is a highly cellular organ which means the cells elaborate a secretion. The secretion is absorbed by the blood and goes to all parts of the body. All secretions do something. What does the thyroid secretion do?

Well, we know pretty well what it does, at least we know what it does when the gland is normal and healthy. It stimulates every cell in the body to activity. Cells have to be kept up to a certain level of activity—the general activities common to all cells consist in absorbing food, using it, breaking it down and sending the by-product back to the blood to be excreted. Cells also have special functions—muscle cells contract and do work, nerve cells carry impulses, etc. But the basal metabolism, as the physiologists call it, the breaking up and utilization of food product and air is presided over by the thyroid gland.

Body Heat
Your body heat is what it is because the thyroid stimulates all the cells to activity: their use of chemicals makes heat, just as the use of a fire makes heat by utilization of chemicals.

That is why the best test for the condition and activity of the thyroid gland is the so-called basal metabolism test. Those of you who have ever had it remember it as breathing into a tin can back and forth. The can is filled with pure oxygen and the test consists in seeing how much oxygen you consume in a certain given time.

For every person of a certain weight and size the amount of oxygen used can be calculated within quite definite limits. If your thyroid gland is working too much, if it is stimulating the cells of the body to excessive activity your basal metabolism will be up and vice versa.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
H. A. N. T.: What foods, especially fruits and vegetables, should not be eaten when one suffers from arthritis? I like them all but someone is always saying, "You shouldn't eat this."

Answer: Pay no attention to the amateurs who say you shouldn't eat this or that! They are full of half knowledge. There is no fruit or vegetable which is bad for arthritis. In fact, diet does not influence arthritis at all.

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE
LUNCHEON WAS eaten very swiftly, it seemed to Barbara. She ate warm fruit cocktail, tepid tomato soup and rubbery steak as if it were her last meal on earth, tasteless but necessary to attaining another world, and then, having wrapped herself in a kind of protective coma, realized that the waiters were pouring coffee, that the room was blue with smoke and Howard Temple was on his feet introducing her.

Get up, Bow. Fix your eyes somewhere in space and begin. That was the formula. She got over the first three parts as she had practiced at home, but when the speech began, it was not the speech that she'd learned.

From far away—a whole planet it seemed—she heard her own voice beginning: "From the first day that I came to South Wintridge a few years ago, I wanted to be an integral part of it." . . . Other phrases came. . . . "The beginning of any relationship, whether it is to be a personal or a business one, must be based on reciprocity. . . . Not what you sell or buy, but what you give to each other equally. . . . There is no such thing as a small town in business. Everything is in ratio. . . . Wherever you find success you find those who want and those who serve. . . . The secret of successful American community life is based on this simple principle. . . . Phrases she had not known she meant to say went together into a speech that had a ring of truth and utter conviction.

Thunderous applause, of which she was only dimly conscious, filled the room. She was wondering if her nose was as shiny as it felt.

Once more, with the aid of watery knees, she got to her feet, smiled a glazed smile, and sat down.

The next speaker was introduced and gradually her mind began to function and her body felt once more as if it belonged to her.

She reached for a glass of ice water and lifted it to her lips, allowing her glance above its rim to sweep the room.

Directly across from her she saw Tom Kilcran.

He was looking at her. She meant to nod and that would be all. But she smiled and saw his smiling answer, after which fleeting exchange she turned to Howard Temple to ask for a light for her cigarette.

Temple said something to her about how did it feel to be a businesswoman.

She told him that it was very nice, all except "making speeches and going to the bank for a loan," newspapers made her bring the latter up; she hadn't meant to at all. Temple looked at her anxiously. "You're not going to hold that against us, Mrs. Wister? You come in any time now and I'm sure you'll find us co-operative."

The men were getting up at the other tables. Barbara drew on her gloves. She looked up.

Tom Kilcran was weaving his way through the tables, coming toward her with unmistakable direction in his progress.

If there'd been one other woman in the room, she would have snapped her vanity open and powdered her nose, but a fine thing it would be to do that just because Tom Kilcran was coming to her side. Was there—

While she said, "How do you do," in nice, cool, even tones, she noted the fine texture of his dark blue suit, the way his white collar fitted his big throat, his maroon tie—and the obvious pleasure in his eyes.

It was pleasure, a kind of delight at seeing her that needed no words to tell her it was there.

She said, "It's nice to see you. . . . It's been quite a long time, hasn't it?"

"Very long," he said, with the slightest emphasis on the first word.

She felt her cheeks warm, was immediately embarrassed because of it, and thought for a moment that was why he looked at her so peculiarly. But almost instantly her woman's instinct read surprise and approval in his eyes and knew it was because she appeared very different now in her chic frock and hat than she had the night of the carnival.

Her own stock went up and she said, "Nice luncheon, wasn't it?" "Nice speech," he answered.

This was followed by a little pause in which she murmured, "Thank you."

"Can I give you a lift? My car's at the door."

"Oh, thanks, but it's only three blocks. I . . . I think I'll walk."

She didn't know which would be sillier, to ride or to make a situation of it.

"Good idea. I need some exercise," he answered readily. "Besides, I want to talk to you. About Pam."

"Oh, Pam," she said brightly. "Do tell me about her. I miss her."

"She misses you, too, I'm sure."

"Are you really?" she said in the same bright voice, thinking, "Noel Coward wouldn't think much of this dialogue."

"Very sure. She's particularly fond of you . . . Barbara,"—her name slipped out so naturally. Neither noticed it. "I'm troubled about my youngster."

"But why?" "She writes that she's 'fed to the teeth' with Bar Harbor. It isn't like her to want to come back to a slow little town like this when she could be having a lot of fun elsewhere. Her mother has a big place there, you know."

Didn't Kilcran know that Pamela and Tony were showing all signs of falling in love? Barbara wondered.

"I suppose Pam told you about the . . . er . . . circumstances of her mother bringing her back east last autumn?"

Pamela hadn't, but Barbara murmured something that might pass for either a yes or no.

"It seems she's eating her heart out for a lad in Santa Fe. Was engaged to him last summer. Her mother didn't think she was old enough, or something."

Barbara said, "She's pretty young."

"Not too young to know what she wants." He was going to say that Claire wasn't much older when she married him but, thinking that Claire obviously hadn't known her own mind, he let it go.

"At first I was going to take it lightly, but now I'm beginning to worry. A trifle. This wanting to come back here and—as she says—'keep house' for me, is a bad sign. I'm wondering if I shouldn't invite this chap to come east and take a look at him."

"Oh, no, not without asking Pam first," she blurted impulsively. "You might find . . ."

Her voice trailed off. She couldn't very well say that Pamela wasn't the kind of a girl who'd be in love with two men at one time. And unless she'd misread all the signs, she could read adoration in Pamela's eyes for Tony. About Tony she was not so sure.

Tom chuckled. "Anyway, I've a surprise for her. Poor little kid, we must have been mighty stern parents. The post from Mexico addressed to a Miss Betty Brown, with a note saying Pam'd been picking them up herself. She must have been afraid for us to know she was writing to him. I'm saving them for her."

A bright red flag of danger waved wildly in Barbara's mind. She had an idea that whatever reason Pamela had for getting letters she didn't want her family to know about, it was NOT because she was afraid to have her family know she was writing love letters. Pam wasn't afraid of anything. And she had reasons for everything she did.

An extremely gay and happy affair was held at the Washington Country Club on Wednesday afternoon, when Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown entertained twenty-nine youngsters to celebrate the sixth birthday of their older daughter, Linda, from four until six o'clock.

The showers of the late afternoon did not dampen the spirits of the adorable young tot in any way, and the party was one hilarious affair.

The spacious lounge was gaily decorated in patriotic colors of red, white and blue, with bowls and baskets of flowers of the three colors arranged most artistically.

A single red, white and blue balloon hung over the tables, and dropped from the chandeliers and were favors of the party.

Attracting the eyes of all was the Fish Pond from where the most attractive and pleasing "fish" were caught.

Jolly games and contests afforded much laughter, with prizes presented to Marilyn Van Vorhis and Rosann Helfrich.

A large array of gifts were presented to the pretty young honor guest, who was dressed in a smart white linen nautical frock. Assisting her older sister, was adorable Wilma Brown, in a yellow party frock, and a kinder in all events.

The young people found their places at tables decorated with red, white and blue napkins and conceits, with a huge birthday cake, frosted in the three colors, the center of all eyes.

FAYETTE-MADE DITTY BAGS ARE USED AT ONCE

Appreciation to Women Who Made Articles Is Sent Here

Sometime ago various women's organizations of the community banded together and made 600 ditty bags for use of the armed forces.

The women enjoyed the work thoroughly, and after the bags were completed and forwarded to some eastern point, had turned their attention to other matters, almost forgetting about the bags.

Miss Mary D. Robinson, home service secretary of the Fayette County Chapter of the American Red Cross, has received a letter of appreciation from an American Red Cross official at some U. S. Army Base Station Hospital.

This letter follows:

"We have recently opened a box of ditty bags and note they were made by your chapter. We want you to know that we appreciate these ditty bags very much and that they met a particular need on the very day they were opened. Of course, we do not now how long ago these bags were made or when they were sent, but please be assured that they are very much appreciated by us and by the men who received them.

"The bags were made of such sturdy material and so well made. As you no doubt realize, these ditty bags have very hard wear and such material as was in yours showed such good judgement on your part.

"The bags are being used by men in a far-away land, and when opening up the bag and seeing that label from Ohio, the men derive more pleasure than you may guess."

Each of the following organizations here made 100 of the ditty bags above referred to:

Thursday Bridge Club, Mrs. Ray Maynard, Chairman.

Connor Farm Women, Mrs. Clarence Rowe, Chairman.

Spring Grove Missionary Society, Mrs. Robert Armstrong, President.

Friday Sewing Club, Mrs. Robert Craig, Chairman.

YWCA Sewing Club, Mrs. Ada Paul, Chairman.

Ladies of St. Colman's Church, Mrs. Richard Jacobs, Chairman.

ROBERT E. WILLIS IS ENGINEER OF FAYETTE COUNTY

Commissioners Take Action At Session Wednesday Afternoon

Robert E. Willis, former city engineer, was Wednesday afternoon chosen by the county commissioners to become engineer of Fayette County, succeeding George A. Gregg, who died last week.

Willis was sworn in, filed bond, and is now actively engaged in discharging the duties of the office.

He announced that the present office assistants will be retained under his term in office.

Willis, a Republican, who has had wide experience in the field of engineering, was named to fill the post until the November election, and at that time he will be a candidate for the position.

While he is a Republican, Willis will necessarily appear on an independent ticket, due to a ruling of the Secretary of State that petitions of any candidate filed after the primary election nominations are closed, compels such candidates to appear on an independent ballot. As there are no other candidates filed Willis will have no opposition.

Willis brings to the office of county engineer extensive training and legally recognized qualifications which not only fit him for this work but also give him a high rating. He graduated from the College of Engineering in the University of Utah in 1921 and because he also had obtained mining engineering experience, he entered mining work for the next several years in some of the Rocky Mountain states, in Chile, British Columbia and later in Alaska. While in the latter place he engaged in both mining and road engineering work.

He became identified with the city of Washington C. H. as city engineer in charge of the disposal plant in 1935 and remained in this work until 1940 when he accepted a position as project engineer with the State of Ohio Department of State Highways remaining with that organization until four months ago when the department loaned him to the U. S. Engineers, the civilian arm of the U. S. Army Engineering Corps. He was engaged in the construction of streets and railroads at the Columbus General Depot of the U. S. Army.

Willis has many friends here who are pleased by his appointment and his acceptance. They are confident that he will establish a highly creditable record in his new duties.

DEDICATION DRAWS LARGE AUDIENCE

Many Fayette countians joined residents of Highland County and other communities in the formal dedication of a new roadside park just east of Leesburg, May or James Garfield Stewart, of Cincinnati, was the main speaker.

Short talks were also given by several other persons, and a parade was held from the town to the park, with many school children participating.

Mack Sauer acted as master of ceremonies.

SOME STORY!
CHILLICOTHE—George Fite, 27, arrested for theft of Harold H. Brown's automobile, told police he fell asleep in the car, and when he awoke, drove it home, thinking it was his own. He could not explain a missing spare tire and wheel, so was held to the grand jury.

Release of Criminals For Army Duty Scored By Rotary Club Speaker

"War Time Problems of a Prosecuting Attorney" was the subject of a short but interesting talk delivered by Ralph J. Bartlett, prosecuting attorney of Franklin County at the regular Tuesday luncheon of the Rotarians at the County Club.

He related that the judges in many criminal courts over the country right now were inclined to release on probation men found guilty of many of the less serious crimes provided they enlisted immediately in the army. He cited a number of cases where this plan had turned out badly and said that various army officers were criticizing the courts for such action. He then asked the question: "Do you men want your boys from decent families and decent homes to be in service in constant personal contact with some of these criminals who are using a plea for leniency on the grounds that they want to join the army?"

He explained that once in a while some of these criminals sent to the army proved a satisfactory experiment, but declared that this problem of sending convicted criminals into military service had many drawbacks. Some used this judicial clemency as a "dodge" merely to desert at the first good opportunity.

Atty. Ray Maddox both introduced Prosecutor Bartlett and also gave a brief and complimentary response at the close of the visiting speaker's talk.

Before the start of the after-luncheon program, Rotarian Elmer Klever suggested that the Club organize into groups to write at appointed times to all Washington C. H. and Fayette County boys in military service. This, he said, would show these boys who are anxious to hear from home, that many of the business and professional men are interested in them as well as their own families. President Rost declared the idea was an excellent one and said that a committee of club members was now seeking to get a complete list of all Fayette County boys in service and when it was secured, the plan would be further organized for action.

Detroiters Beaten By Army All-Stars To Lead Pro Series

By WATSON SPOELSTRA

DETROIT, Sept. 10.—(P)—The Western Army All-Stars have a couple of tough customers ahead in the Green Bay Packers and New York Giants. But Major Wallace Wade's soldier footballers will be hard to dislodge from their edge in the charity series against National Pro League clubs.

The Army seized the upper hand in the series last night by employing every possible way football points can be scored to whip the Detroit Lions, 12 to 0, before 21,499 customers who paid an estimated $40,000, minus expenses, toward army emergency relief. Having beaten the Chicago Cardinals after losing the opener to the Washington Redskins, the Army leads two games to one.

Jarvin's John Kimbrough, former Texas Aggie All-America who had scored his team's previous three touchdowns, was held scoreless by the Lions, but two other Texans, Suh, carried on exceptionally well in his place. Bill Conatser speared a second period touchdown pass in a 52-yard play with Kay Eakin of Arkansas and the New York Giants, and Bill Dawson booted the extra point and a fourth period field goal from behind the 12-yard line.

Like Kimbrough, both Conatser and Dawson are former Texas Aggies.

To round out the scoring, the Lions kicked in with a safety four minutes from the Games' finish when a snafu eluded Harry (Hippity) Hopp and rolled out of the end zone.

The soldiers will try to make it three successive victories to clinch the series by beating the Packers at Milwaukee Sunday. They will play the Giants at Syracuse, N. Y., on September 19. The Detroit receipts are expected to boost relief benefits to nearly $100,000 going into the last two games.

Fritzie Zivic Picked Over Red Cochrane

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(P)—Off the past performance charts and the "dope" sheets, Fritzie Zivic is favored to flail the daylights out of Freddie (The Red) Cochrane in Madison Square Garden tonight.

It was just about 14 months ago that Cochrane was supposed to roll over and play dead for Fritzie in a ring over in Newark. But Freddie wound up by taking the world welterweight championship away from Zivic. And, make no mistake about it—he was the winner that night and fairly and squarely, with no hocus-pocus involved.

On that occasion, Zivic was a 1 to 7 favorite, and there were no takers. Tonight Fritzie will be 1 to 2, largely because in his recent trips to the post he has done everything Freddie the Red has done—and done it better. Cochrane's three starts saw him outpoint the fading Lew Jenkins, take a decision from young Bobby Britton and drop a verdict to Garvey Young of the Marines. Fritzie took on all three of these gladiators—and knocked them all out.

And so Fritzie is tabbed to get the revenge he's been hollering about for more than a year. Some 13,000 fans are expected for the slugfest which is a USO benefit affair.

Holley has been guilty of gross neglect of duty.

Said Marion F. Holley is required to answer on or before the 16th day of October 1942, or judgment will be taken against him.

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Second thoughts? Wonder why Mike Jacobs put on 77,000 as the likely attendance for the Louis-Conn scrap? . . . He once packed 88,150, the third largest crowd in boxing history, into the Yankee Stadium to see Louis wreck Max Baer. . . Looks like a good spot to borrow an idea from the Chicago All-Star football game and save a few choice seats for people willing to contribute $100 to a good cause, but we hear the Army voted that one down. . . And why not make it an all-service affair with Lieut. Jack Dempsey of the coast guard as referee and Lieut. Commander Gene Tunney of the Navy as announcer? . . . If Conn really wants to win, why doesn't he hire father-in-law Jimmy Smith as sparring partner—for Louis?

Turnover

White Deer High School in Texas has had six football coaches in six months—and we'll let that stand as a record until we hear of a better one. . . Gene McCollum, last season's coach, resigned to take a new job. . . Two of his successors, Gail Smith and Charles Churchill, went into the Army, and Thurmon (Tugboat) Jones, who had decided to quit pro football, took over. . . But the grid dodgers made Tugboat an offer that was too good to refuse so he moved on and left the job to his assistant, Tyson Cox. . . W. C. Whiteside, Cox' new aide, is the sixth newcomer.

Today's Guest Star

Art Edson, Oklahoma City Oklahoman: "Every time one looks around one sees another 'All-Star' football squad busy drilling. A little more of this and it will be easier for a gridman to make an All-Star squad than his college letter."

SIXTH PENNANT IN SEVEN YEARS NEAR FOR YANKS

League Title Now Only Five Victories Away After Red Sox Beaten

By JUDSON BAILEY

(By The Associated Press)
There's no need to be in a hurry, but the New York Yankees apparently are ready to clinch their sixth pennant in seven years this week end.

Any combination of five victories by New York or five defeats for the Boston Red Sox will keep the Yanks on the throne and this little qualification could be attended to by Sunday—or before.

The Bombers blasted out an 8-3 triumph over the St. Louis Browns yesterday for their fifth straight success and 11th in 12 games. This put them ten full games in front of the Red Sox, who were idle.

If the Yanks add five more victories in a row the clincher would come next Sunday in Cleveland, according to the schedule, even if the Sox also win all their games in the meantime. Every game Boston loses, of course, means one less the Yankees must win.

The champions didn't act like they would need the help as they subdued the third place St. Louis club yesterday. In the first inning Joe Gordon hit a homer with the bases loaded, his 18th roundtripper and second grand slam of the season, and Big Ernie Bonham held the Browns to eight safeties, in coasting to his 19th win.

The only other Major League game that escaped the weather was a 13-inning night marathon which the Philadelphia Athletics wangled from the Cleveland Indians 5-4.

Phil Marchildon, pitching five no-hit innings in relief, gained credit for his 17th victory when the A's pushed across a run in the 13th on a walk, a single by Bob Johnson and a fly by Dick Siebert.

Softball Games Balked Again By Weatherman

Everybody but the Weatherman has been cooperating with the YM-YW to get in a couple of benefit softball games before the enthusiasm for the sport fades out. And, that is creating a sad state of affairs.

The Rotarians and Lions have been trying since Tuesday to get together. But, it would hardly be becoming for that bunch of businessmen—and they like nothing better than to have their fun cutting capers and playing softball—to go sloshing around in the mud of the diamond or skidding in the wet grass of the outfield. Their game has been tentatively set for Friday, to start at 8 P. M. or thereabouts.

Wednesday evening, a pair of Church League teams were to have played a benefit all-star game, but old Jupe Pluvius came rolling in on the dark clouds less than two hours before game time and stuck around until long after the tussle would have ended. He did not leave the field in very good shape but then his arch rival, Old Sol, could do wonders with it if he could get the chance.

The first game of the Industrial League play-off was scheduled for 8:30 P. M. Wednesday—but alas, it was the same sad story. So, the Fayette Grangers and Light's Dairy men stayed under cover and hoped to settle their differences Thursday evening.

Just when this steadily growing program of softball games will be played is highly conjectural and largely up to Mr. Weatherman's whims. There is, however, no disposition to pass it up. And, it may be that the fans will have to take their softball finale in one big spree and that, admittedly has its points although the fans probably would rather spread out their fun over several nights. It is a toss-up as to whether the YM-YW pocketbook would benefit more by the one big sports carnival or two or three smaller ones.

BUCKS LIGHT BUT FULL OF FIGHT; BROWN ORDERS SLOW DOWN IN DRILL

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—(P)—

Paul E. Brown, the former Massillon High School football coach who guided Ohio State's Buckeyes to a second place tie in his Western Conference debut, is starting his second season on the cautious side.

Where other Big Ten camps are beginning to speed up practice, the latest word from Columbus has Coach Brown calling for a "slow down."

It seems his enthusiastic gridgers even were taking to conditioning workouts with an alarming zest. So Brown ordered the pace slowed down, conceding there might be such a thing as "going stale from overwork" even if the Buckeye practice was just three days old.

Besides, says Brown, "they're 10 pounds lighter on an average than last year's team and a year and half younger."

"They look like high school kids in size," he added, "but they're fine boys and they'll fight, too."

Anyway, the Buckeye "slow down" consisted of drilling on pass offense and on two new plays (which may be caution on Brown's part, but it certainly has an ominous ring for the rest of the Conference.)

Among other Big Ten camps, three came up with scrimmages yesterday. Purdue's varsity got its first crack at the Freshmen and was none too impressive. . . . At Minnesota, Coach George Hauser rotated his first four lines on both offense and defense. . . . Everyone but the first string backs engaged in a 20 minute skirmish at Illinois. . . . Michigan drilled on its aerial attack for the third straight day. . . . Kicking got the chief attention at Indiana. . . . A ragged practice prompted a thorough juggling of the Iowa lineup. . . . Northwestern worked on backfield tackling and line blocking. . . . Wisconsin concentrated on operations of the backfield.

Red Birds Trounced By Blues in Opener Of AA Play-offs

(By The Associated Press)

The Kansas City Blues, forced to go to the very last day of the season to clinch the American Association pennant, are wasting little time getting the jump on their rivals in the Shaughnessy playoffs.

Weather prevented second place Milwaukee and fourth place Toledo from opening their semi-final series last night but Kansas City got its inaugural out of the way by defeating Columbus, 4 to 1.

Each of the semi final series is a best of seven game arrangement, with the winners meeting for the title and the right to play in the "Little World Series" against the International League playoff winner.

Kansas City won last night behind the seven hit pitching of Charley Wensloff. Ted Wilks started for Columbus and surrendered all the Kansas City runs and his before going out for a pinch hitter in the seventh. Bill Grouch did not allow a hit in his two inning relief role.

The playoffs continue tonight.

ANOTHER BRIDGE BEING REPLACED

Another step in the big improvement program launched by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to keep step with the tremendous demands being made upon the railroads as result of the war, is under way at Deer Creek, north-east of Mt. Sterling, where a sub-structure type of bridge will soon replace the old bridge. Plans are being made to roll the new bridge into position within a short time so that traffic will not be interfered with. Work on the new bridge has been under way for some time, and it will be completed about the time the Morgan bridge at Orient is finished. The work is part of an extensive program of improvements launched on the Newark division some time ago. A new and modern one of the improvements carried on water tank at this point was out.

SPEEDERS DRAW ATTENTION OF CITY COUNCIL

Little Business Transacted At Regular Session Wednesday Night

Brought up by Councilman A. W. Duff at the regular meeting of City Council, Wednesday night, council discussed the traffic problem, chiefly as it relates to speeders and reckless operators.

Councilman Duff called attention to excessive speed, reckless operation, and unnecessary noise of motors, on North Street, and others stated that the same situation exists in various parts of the city, particularly on main thoroughfares.

Use of a traffic officer was suggested, but after the discussion was over, no action had been taken toward bringing about a change.

It was indicated, however, that steps would be taken, insofar as possible under the present police set-up, to bring about better enforcement of the traffic laws, particularly in the school zone areas and on main thoroughfares.

Special complaint was made of speeding, noisy trucks and motorcycles.

During the session an ordinance was adopted to levy special assessments for street lighting, the ordinance being similar to one enacted in 1935 and adopted year after year since then.

City Manager Edwin Ducey explained that while the assessments bring in about $5,822 that the total cost of lights runs above $7,200.

A resolution was also adopted asking the County Auditor to advance $5,000 for general fund use and $3,000 for bond retirement fund, from the present collection of taxes.

Judge S. A. Murry's report for the month of August showed a total collection of $927.10 in fines and fees.

FIVE DAYS LEFT FOR INSURANCE ON WHEAT CROP

Government Now Paying for Short Crops on 30 Farms In County This Year

Wheat growers in Fayette County have only five days left—until September 15—in which to apply for their 1943 crop insurance protection, according to Harry Silcott, chairman of the county AAA committee.

Wheat crop insurance guarantees wheat growers up to 75 percent of their average yield on the actual number of acres of wheat seeded up to the acreage allotment established for the farm. Wheat has always been the most difficult of all farm crops to handle from the standpoint of net income, due to the risks involved in its production, such as drought, insects, plant diseases, wind storms, fire, tornado, flood, winter kill, hail, etc. More than $100,000,000 is lost each year in this country in wheat crop failures.

In Fayette County this year with better than an average crop of wheat, yields have ranged from 3 to 38 bushels per acre and losses were experienced and indemnities are being paid on 30 farms in the county totaling around $2,500, on only about 46 percent of the wheat farms participating in the crop insurance program.

Wheat farmers will readily admit that the risk on producing a full crop of wheat will be greater next year than any previous year for a considerable length of time, because hired labor, fertilizer and machinery will not be as readily available, the danger from Hessian Fly will undoubtedly be greater, and if a loss occurs it will be much greater, due to the higher price or value of wheat. The only way to make certain of wheat income in 1943, equal to 75 percent of an average crop is to take out all-risk wheat crop insurance by September 15, Silcott declared.
